

Columbia Bank Online Privacy Policy

Columbia Bank and its subsidiaries and affiliates (Collectively described as “Columbia”, “we”, or “us”) recognize the importance our customers and other users of our websites place on the privacy and security of their information, and we are committed to protecting it as described in this Policy. This Policy applies to your use of this website and any Columbia website, online interface, mobile site, or mobile application that links to this Online Policy (each a "Site, and collectively "Sites"). This Online Policy specifically applies to Columbia's collection, use and disclosure of information collected from visitors during use of the Sites, such as for transactional purposes or through tracking technology, including cookies or action tags. This Site and all Columbia's Sites are operated in and controlled from the United States of America. This Online Policy should be read together with the "What Does Columbia Do with Your Personal Information" Privacy Notice ("Privacy Notice"), which, among other things, describes how Columbia may share personal information.

Changes to this Online Policy

From time to time, we may make changes to this Policy in order to accommodate new technologies, platforms, industry practices, regulatory requirements or for other purposes. We encourage you to review this Notice periodically to ensure that you understand how we collect, use and share information through the Websites. If we do make changes to this Notice, we will also update the "Effective Date" posted at the top of this Notice.

Any changes to this Notice will become effective when the revised Notice is posted on the Websites. By continuing to use the Websites following such changes, you are agreeing to accept the terms of the revised Notice.

Types of Information Collected

We collect Personal Information and Aggregate Information from visitors or users of our Sites. We use the term "Personal Information" to mean any information that can identify a specific individual. We use the term "Aggregate Information" to refer to any information that does not allow us to identify a specific individual, such as demographic information, information about the device used to access our Site(s) (“Device”), browser information or areas visited on our Sites.

For example, you may provide Personal Information when you complete an online application for a new banking product, when you enroll in our online or mobile banking services, when you provide information during an online chat session, or when you complete online fields with your contact information.

Aggregate Information

We may gather and store Aggregate Information about Site visitors and Site users. The collection of this Aggregate Information enables us to measure the number of visitors to various portions of our Sites, diagnose problems with our Sites, administer our Sites, track visitor activity, detect and prevent fraud and enhance the security of our Sites. We may collect information regarding the type of Device or browser you are using, the Device IDs, the IP address of your Device, the advertising ID of your Device, your screen resolution and other Device settings, information about your operating system, your location, your internet or mobile service provider, and how you use our Sites. Because Aggregate Information collected on our Sites does not personally identify you, we may use Aggregate Information for any purpose whatsoever and share Aggregate Information with third parties for any purpose whatsoever.

Use of Cookies or Similar Technologies

Cookies or other similar technologies may be used to gather information on our Sites. Cookies are electronic files that your internet browser places on your hard drive or other Device to retain information relating to visits to and use of our Sites. We use cookies to improve the functionality and performance of our Sites. We do not use cookies to store or transmit Personal Information. We use cookies to enable our customers to navigate more easily within our Sites during a session. We use "persistent" cookies to allow you to set and maintain your preferences for using our Sites.
